SPEEDER PENALIZED IN WESTERLY

Robert English Fined $125 on Two Counts—Seized Liquor Ordered Destroyed—Women's Slander Suit Ends with Judgment for Plaintiff—Sale of Factory Property to J. G. Arnold.

Robert English of New Haven, the Westport summer resident who ran his automobile into a wagon owned and occupied by William D. Main, while hastening to a wedding at Watch Hill, Wednesday night, paid the penalty in the Third district court, Friday. He was arraigned soon after his arrest Wednesday and pleaded not guilty to the charges of reckless driving and of failing to return to the site of the collision to ascertain the damage done. For the first count the maximum penalty is a fine of $250 or thirty days in jail, or both, and the maximum on the second count is $100 or thirty days in jail or both.

Mr. English's request that he be permitted to withdraw his pleas of not guilty, to substitute the plea of guilty, was granted.

Town Solicitor Agard did not ask for the maximum sentence and would not ask for a sentence in jail, but a substantial fine be imposed on both counts.

Attorney Kingsley, counsel for the young man, New Haven, explained that the respondent was in a hurry to get to Watch Hill in time for the wedding and that he was late at the social event. The mishap occurred, Mr. Kingsley said, at a point on the road where the trolley road was progressing on the trolley road and where there was not sufficient room for two vehicles to pass. Mr. Main was in the lead and going in the direction of Watch Hill. English tooted the horn of his automobile, and Mr. Main accommodated him by moving to the right and partially into a yard. Just as Mr. English was to pass, the horse made a step backward, and the automobile struck and dislodged one of the rear wheels. He looked behind and seeing that Mr. Main was moving about, he did not stop and return to the scene of the mishap, but kept right on to Watch Hill, where he was arrested.

Mr. Kingsley asked the court to temper the sentence with leniency in view of the fact that this was the first offense of Mr. English; that he had saved the state expense by pleading guilty, and that he was already under bonds of $1,000 in a civil suit brought by Mr. Main for damages for alleged injuries received.

Judge Oliver H. Williams found the accused guilty on both counts, and imposed a fine of $100 for failure to return and ascertain extent of damage, as required by statute, and $25 for reckless driving, giving accused the benefit of his statement that in passing Mr. Main's team the horse backed when the wagon was struck, thus lessening the degree of carelessness.

In the case against vessels and liquors seized on the premises of James J. Doherty, the town of Richmond, after hearing the testimony of the search warrant part, Judge Williams decreed that the liquors were forfeited to the state and he authorized warrant for their destruction.

The case charging James Doherty and William Stinson with being the owners of liquors seized, June 23, upon premises owned by James Doherty, was next called. Judge John Sweeney appeared for respondents in defense of the liquors seized, two pints.

of whiskey, which were found in Stinson's pockets, and Town Solicitor Agard represented the state. After the testimony of Chief Brandfield and Messrs. Church, Thorp, Corey and Mrs. Alice Pendleton for the state, Judge Sweeney announced he would put in no evidence for the defense. He argued that there was no evidence guilty to the charges of reckless driving and asked for his dismissal from the case. He then stated that as the complaint was not sustained by evidence that the liquors seized be returned to Mr. Stinson.

Judge Williams decided that the testimony did not show that Doherty owned the liquors, but that they were seized from Stinson. Judgment was given that the liquors were forfeited to the state, and that a warrant be issued for their destruction.

The final case of the session was that of Mrs. Mary Jane Burdick against Mrs. Sarah Brewer, a suit for slander in which damages of $500 were claimed for injury to reputation and for mental anguish. This case was brought nearly three years ago and has been continued from time to time for various causes. The testimony showed the use of a wicked tongue and indicated that there had been bad feeling between the parties. On the witness stand for a long time, Dixon and Rathbun were counsel for Mrs. Burdick and Ledwith for Mrs. Brewer. After the arguments, Judge Williams gave judgment for plaintiff in the sum of $300. Notice of appeal to the superior court was filed.

Upon the request of the attorneys in the assault case of Alvin E. Wright against Enoch D. Jurue, Messrs. Ledwith and Sweeney, the court ordered the case erased from the docket upon payment of costs by the defendant.

Eric Dahlgren of New York, bound to Watch Hill by automobile, was delayed in Bridgeport by reason of the auto being taken from him by a Bridgeport boy. The vehicle was loaned to Mr. Dahlgren by a friend and in compliance with order of the chauffeur was running slowly to avoid accidents. The automobile was running close to the sidewalk, when the boy stepped backward from the front of the automobile, and was crushed to death. The car was driven direct to police headquarters, and John Quinn, the chauffeur, gave himself up to the police. A bond of $5,000 was furnished by the proprietor of a Bridgeport garage and Quinn was released, pending investigation. The car is registered "30355 N.Y."

In one of the liquor seizure cases in the Third district court, Friday, the evidence showed that two bottles of whiskey were taken from the pockets of the man in charge of the place raided. In his argument for the defendant, questioning the legality of such a seizure and added that he would not be surprised to hear of the use of a stomach pump to get evidence in liquor cases in New York; an idea that could have advantageously been used during the deadly wood alcohol epidemic.

When the little girl returned, her mother asked if she had done as she told her.
"Not exactly, mamma," was the reply. "Marian took the biggest piece of the apple and spilled lemonade on my new dress, so I couldn't say what you told me, but I told her mother good night, and I said I guessed Marian had had a very pleasant time."—Judge.

A New Judiciary System?
The Constitution gives Congress a free hand in the matter of constituting tribunals inferior to the Supreme Court. To this authorization we are indebted for the federal courts, which have long played an important part in our system of jurisprudence. They have proved their efficiency for the work they created to do, and, indeed, it is not clear that any crying necessity has suddenly arisen which is beyond their activities. But if so—if litigation has so far outgrown present facilities as to demand the establishment of an entire new system of the judiciary, with the court of commerce and the court of customs as its beginnings, where is it to end? May it not carry us further—a long way, further—than the legislation which invited the reproach that this was a government by commission? And, by the by, it is a fact of special significance that the new court of commerce is the child of the body whose creation may be said to have given the impulse to the movement that was not checked until Congress had run commission mad—the interstate commerce commission. It is manifest that when a Congress composed of lawyers for the most part happened upon a new professional Eldorado, it goes the limit of exploitation. Neither the Constitution nor its offshoots are permitted to block the way.—Washington Post.
